Applications for grants for assistance from individuals for training or from towers for work or for the provision of things that keep bells ringing shall be submitted to the Secretary. Details of applications received will be sent out to towers as soon as possible after receipt. All applications received and sent out at least one month before a meeting will be considered at the next general meeting of the Branch.

Grants will be given towards training courses as follows: 50% of the cost up to a maximum of £50. Applications for grants should be made in writing to the Secretary. It would help us if you apply before you attend the course.

Videos

Bellhandling—a tutor's companion (produced by the Central Council)

Teaching Demonstration (recording of Steve Coleman teaching)

These videos may be borrowed from the Secretary free of charge. However, a deposit of £5 will be required against safe return of the video.

Under these arrangements, new members may be elected at any Branch practice or meeting.

Our Grateful Thanks...

Chairman's Jottings

As I indicated at the Branch meeting in September, I do not intend to stand for re-election as Chairman at the March AGM.

There are many reasons for this, some of which I feel I should share with you all.

- § I have been Chairman of the Branch for 2 years on this occasion and have also held the post previously. I think it is time there is some new blood involved in the leadership team, and where better to start than by replacing the Chairman?
- § A start has been made in challenging the norms and a few successes have been scored. More needs to be done to take these things forward but they will take more energy than I have.
- § I hold two posts (Guild Rep and Chairman) and that is one too many.
- § I have not enjoyed the last year in office and I know I don't do my best at things I don't enjoy doing!

I strongly believe in the role that the Branch and Guild have to play in the development of ringers and ringing, as a contribution to the act of Worship and the life and out reach of the Church overall. I believe that it is essential that both organisations continue. But there has to be a greater connection between the membership and the management so that the activities that are organised remain relevant and effective. It is amazingly disheartening for everyone concerned to have events that are poorly supported.

I have worried on a number of occasions that we are obsessed with the management issues and have lost sight of the ringing and social aspects.

To that end can I encourage you all to think carefully about the opportunity that is in front of you at the AGM? You have to determine who does the leadership jobs in the Branch and what they do, so that you get the most out of the exercise. This is a big responsibility that you must take seriously and I urge you to talk about it in your practices and come to the meeting with ideas.

I should like to thank all the other Officers who have put up with me for the last two years, and all of you for your encouragement and support.

Alan Marchbank

In Touch - the future?

An item on the Agenda for the AGM is the financing of In Touch.

Here are a few facts to aid the discussion:

The cost of In Touch for 2006 (4 issues—printing, postage, stationery) was £414.97, or £104.74 per issue.

Donations from towers and individuals was £145.00, making a shortfall of £269.97.

In 2006 we had 179 members, and we distributed to towers approximately one copy per two members.

The cost to each member for the year is approximately £2.32, or 58p per issue.

The PCC Meeting

It is becoming a custom to not only celebrate one's birthday with a quarter and a drink but with a curry as well. We thought that as the next birthday was in February (Eddie's) if we waited that long we may have withdrawal symptoms so we decided to have one just before Christmas (the Pre-Christmas Curry [PCC] meeting) as it was to be called in the golden years at Bedford. We decided to set sail at 6 o'clock, but after emergency call-outs and confusion between the H4 and V4 I was picked up at 8 o'clock. After a few drinks in a couple of our favourite locals we enjoyed a superb meal at The Mogul Palace despite one or two finding the chilli a little on the hot side. We thought you may rather see Philip in a photo as you probably see plenty of the rest of us!

Calling Stedman Doubles Workshop

We still have one more place available for this school. To qualify you must be able to ring touches of Stedman Doubles confidently. It has been pushed back to March so if you are interested please let me know.

Calling Called Changes Workshop

To qualify for this you need to be able to ring called changes confidently. This workshop should take place in April, so if you are interested please let me know.

To register your interest in either of these workshops, please contact Chrissie Cable, the Training Officer by email or phone.

JO NEVILLE

I first met Jo about thirty years ago at Old Wolverton, where I taught her to ring. She achieved a standard which enabled her to be a competent Sunday Service ringer and she rang a few Quarters at Wolverton, Calverton, Beachampton and other local towers.

She was an extremely efficient barmaid, particularly at The Bull at Stony Stratford where coincidentally we drank after the Branch practice at Stony Stratford in January.

In the last twenty or so years her first love and loyalty was to the Church of the Assumption at Beachampton, where she became Sexton and Churchwarden, and I was organist in the eighties.

Her funeral service, which was planned right to the last detail by Jo before her demise, was well attended with good representation from the Branch.

On 5th January her ringing friends rang a peal with the bells open in thanksgiving for her life.

Rest in peace, Jo.

Tower Information

The Secretary sent out a letter to all tower correspondents in December, giving the details that are held about them as tower correspondent, and of the bells and ringing at their tower. They were asked to check these details, amend as necessary and return the letter by the end of the year. So far, less than half of the letters have been returned. If you have not yet done so, please return the letter, even if everything is correct, so that we know that we have the correct details. It will not cost you anything, as there was a stamped addressed envelope included. We try to maintain accurate information. We can only do this with your help.

IN TOUCH BY EMAIL?

We can now send you In Touch by email if you prefer. It would be a fairly large pdf file, but you would have the advantage of receiving your copy before everyone else and maybe saving the Branch some money.

Just send your email address to:

This was a bit of a last minute organisation and a number of rings of bells were considered. Thankfully Bletchley were very accommodating and it did mean we did not have the bells and tower to contend with—just the method!!

This nearly completes the Standard 8 for James—just London to go and that will be a further test of skill—all that backward hunting. Then we start the spliced exercise!!

The “youngsters” and Barry joined the Luton District meeting at Leighton Buzzard for some 10 and 12 bell practice. A curry and copious quantity of beer followed to celebrate James's birthday.

Ringling on the Sunday morning at Great Linford was followed by an impromptu quarter at Downs Barn—a very good effort indeed with a strong rhythm and good striking throughout.

GUILD STRIKING COMPETITIONS

Methods proposed by the Deputy
Master for 2007:

Ten-Bell Competition on
24th November in the Chiltern
Branch
—Stedman Caters.

Implementation of Guild Communications Enhancements—a Summary

The Guild General Committee accepted the paper from the Communications working group. By doing so, it accepted a broad strategy and approach to communications. The paper looks at what is needed to implement the strategy in a workable way.

The policy adopted was:

- To set up a direct line of communication with each individual member
- To facilitate communication between members, officers, committees and branches
- To exploit electronic communication where practical
- Not to disadvantage those without Internet access
- To encourage a culture of information and knowledge sharing between members, officers and committees

Achieving this will require co-ordinated action by many people, both at Guild level and in the Branches. One key task therefore is to communicate with appropriate people in all Branches. Some of them will be easy to identify, notably the senior officers and those already involved in communication, but others might be less obvious.

The Master suggested grouping the work into three broad areas. These are interdependent (in that any one won't work without some of the others) but they represent a sensible way to parcel up some of the detailed implementation. They are:

- Management of membership data
- Web sites
- Information distribution

The working group paper outlined a broad picture of the type of features considered appropriate. These need refining in discussion with Branches.

Has anyone noticed that it's been different?

Last year at the AGM we voted to make some changes to the calendar, mainly connected with Saturday Meetings. We agreed to hold two Saturday business meetings per year, the AGM in March and a half-year meeting in September. We would continue with ringing and social gatherings in June and December. We agreed that short business meetings could be held at any other Branch event if deemed necessary to conduct urgent business and to elect new members. Saturday events, apart from the AGM may move from the first Saturday of the month to try and improve attendance. The officers also cut down on events so that in general there is only one Branch event per month.

Has this made any difference? Looking at the statistics then more of you came to Branch events in 2006 than in the either 2004 or 2005

Average Attendance

Did you come to a Branch practice, meeting or social gathering? Are we catering for your needs?

Year	Quarterly Events	Practices
2004	23	16.2
2005	18	15.2
2006	25	17.6

Are there other changes to be made or other events we should hold?

There is an agenda item under Any Other Business at the AGM when we can review the changes over the last year and consider what, if any, other changes should be made. Please give this some thought and bring your comments and ideas to the AGM so that we can discuss them.

Belfry work at Maids Moreton

The work to refurbish the clappers and renew the pulleys at St Edmund's has now been completed and the new units are now installed and ringing true. The photo shows the components upon delivery to the Church prior to installation the 8th November 2006.

We are grateful to the North Bucks Branch for assistance in the form of a grant. Similarly, we thank the Bell Preservation Fund of the ODG and the Maids Moreton Parish Council for their generosity in this field. Also to be acknowledged are the major contributions from the Church Fete committee and the St. Edmund's Tower Fund. This latter arises from the voluntary contributions of the ringers on practice nights over the years. I must also mention a thank you to the gentleman who thrust a £20 note into my hands during the business meeting at Calverton last June with the words "here you are, this will start you off".

Finally, thanks are due to Alan Marchbank for advice given during the course of the application and for his help in inspecting the completed work.

120 years ago - A Golden Jubilee Year

Doug Hird, Archivist

In the small market town of Newport Pagnell the preparations for the celebration of Queen Victoria's Golden Jubilee were set in motion towards the end of 1886. A sequence of town meetings had difficulty deciding between two major schemes and a number of minor ones. The schemes were:

- To restore or replace the chimes, the tune machine installed by Joseph Ayre in 1762 no longer worked and was the subject of comment for some years
- To set up a Cottage Hospital along similar lines to those already in place in nearby towns
- To open up the entrance to the church by demolishing a building that occupied the space now occupied by the war memorial
- The construction of a new engine house for the fire engine
- To provide improved facilities for the cricket team
- The construction of a swimming pool
- To set up a bathing place on one of the rivers

In the end, the matter was decided by the cost. The cost to set up a cottage hospital was somewhat confused by the range of options available and the complete lack of a financial benefits case. As occupants were expected to pay, most cottage hospitals turned in a steady profit but this was only briefly mentioned. In contrast, the towns people had a good understanding of the chimes and the project was probably favoured because Gillett's representative was able to play the National Anthem and Rule Britannia on handbells. In addition, and pushed into the arena at the last minute, was the proposal to set up a bathing place on the river Lovat. Seen as a low cost, but popular scheme. To play the National Anthem, an extra bell was needed and that wasn't included in the original estimate. A flat 2nd bell was paid for by Mr. F. J. Taylor, the principal supporter of the project, at a cost of £50, and was delivered to Newport Station on Friday 1st April 1887. At the same time, the churchwardens were arranging all the alterations and improvements that were needed in the tower. The wood panelling in the clock room dates from this time being constructed by Mr. E. D. Mitchell. The age of the clock, now out of use, is given then as 126 years, according to an inscription on the mechanism. That inscription is now lost but this would put the date of construction as 1761.

On the day of the Jubilee, festivities started with the opening of the new bathing place followed by a procession through the town to the Church. The vicar had set aside the end of a mid-day service to dedicate the new bell and chimes. "Just at five minutes to one o'clock, as soon as the dedication service was ended, Master Leonard Whitworth Taylor, pulled the string in the bell tower, and which had been connected with the chimes in the clock tower, when the National Anthem sounded from the belfry, indicating to the outside public that the new chimes, subscribed for by the parishioners had been set in motion." Following that, a considerable feast and festivities were arranged.

Elsewhere in the Branch, the ringers were very much in evidence: At Woughton, the ringers started ringing at 3.00am; at Sherington and Chicheley, the ringers started at 4.00am; the bells were rung during the day at Ravenstone and Little Woolstone, both now unringable. At Milton Keynes, Bletchley, Woughton and Great Linford, the bells were re-hung, all by Gillett's. At Fenny Stratford, five new bells were added to the existing bell to make a ring of six in a new oak frame. The ringers at Hanslope seem to have been the last to stop ringing. Having started at 5.00am they finally finished after midnight.

All this, and more is from the pages of Croydon's Weekly Standard, Newport's weekly newspaper. The proprietors took the opportunity of the Jubilee year to re-name the paper to The Bucks Standard in this year.

News from Newport!

After years of discussion and false alarm it now looks likely that a ringing platform will be constructed at Newport Pagnell. This is just part of a much needed re-ordering of the west end of the Church. The proposals are:

- ⇒ Alterations to the North Porch to provide disabled access, improved lighting and a new interior door.
- ⇒ Improvements to the tower to provide disabled toilet facilities and a kitchen area.
- ⇒ Installation of an oak screen and ringing platform to blend in with the existing character of the interior.

The benefits to the ringers include shorter ropes and a better ringing environment. Both of these will already be apparent at Newton Longville where the new balcony there has transformed the ring.

The cost has been estimated at £100,000 of which £50,000 has already been generously donated. If you wish to make a donation, feel free to get in touch with Doug Hird who can supply donation forms, containing the relevant Gift Aid Declaration.
